The University Mace and Batons
The mace and batons are symbols of the authority and history of the University and are made from balusters from the original main staircase of Old Main, erected in 1875, the oldest University building now standing. The batons are carried by members of the faculty who are serving as marshals.

Marshals’ Gowns
The gowns worn by the marshals are of the traditional University color, cardinal red.

Honor Stoles
White or cardinal stoles denote students who are candidates for University Honors. Cardinal represents Honors (cum laude) and white represents High Honors (magna cum laude). White stoles with cardinal and white cords represent Highest Honors (summa cum laude).

The University Song
In 1909 a prize of fifty dollars was offered for the best poem relating to the University of Arkansas that should be capable of being set to music and used as a college song. Out of many entries, that of Mr. Brodie Payne, 1906, of Hot Springs won the prize. The words were set to music by Professor H. D. Tovey, Director of the Conservatory of Music and Art at the University.

Academic Regalia
The styles of gowns differentiate degree level. Trim of doctoral gowns indicates nature of degree (black or royal blue — Ph.D.; light blue — Ed.D.). Certain members of the faculty wear distinctive gowns and hoods authorized by their doctoral institutions. The lining of the hood denotes the color(s) of the institution awarding the degree. The official colors of the University of Arkansas are cardinal and white.

The color of the velvet band around the hood designates the academic degree of the wearer. Some examples are listed below:

- Agriculture, Maize
- Architecture, Blue Violet
- Arts and Letters, White
- Business and Bus. Admin., Drab
- Economics, Copper
- Education, Light Blue
- Engineering, Orange
- Fine Arts, Dark Brown
- Forestry, Russet
- Human Envi. Sci., Maroon

Charles E. Scharlau III

As a World War II veteran, a former chairman, president and CEO of a major energy corporation, a former University of Arkansas board of trustees member and chairman of the board, as well as a philanthropist, Charles Scharlau has seen, and perhaps done, it all.

Scharlau grew up on a farm near Mountain Home, Ark., and was a lover of books due to his family’s extensive collection dating back to his grandfather, who was a lawyer himself.

Prior to the end of his senior year of high school, Scharlau joined the U.S. Marine Corps and served two years in World War II before returning home with an honorable discharge.

Because the U of A was delaying enrollment for returning veterans, Scharlau was able to enroll in the UA School of Law on a GI bill and befriended legendary law professor, Dr. Robert Leflar. Leflar offered him a opportunity to work as the sole legal counsel for Arkansas Western Gas, which later became Southwestern Energy Corp. From there, some might say the rest is history.

Scharlau started at Arkansas Western Gas in 1951 and learned multiple aspects of the energy business. He moved on to an executive position in 1966 and stayed in there until 2013. During that time, Scharlau helped transform Southwestern Energy from a small distribution company to one of the nation’s leaders in exploration and natural gas providers.

Under his guidance, the company discovered the Fayetteville shale production and also established gas production in parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, as well as Texas, Louisiana, Colorado, Utah and Canada.

During his time, Scharlau served two terms as president of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce and three terms as chairman of the board of the Fayetteville Chamber of Commerce. He was a director of ABLEST Inc., from 1980 until it was sold in 2008 and served as the chairman of its compensation committee from 2004.

Scharlau served on the U of A Board of Trustees from 1997-2007 and was the board’s chairman for the 2005-2006 academic year. He was also the president of the Alumni Association and is a member of the U of A Foundation Board of Directors, which manages more than $1.5 billion in assets, serving on its executive committee and chairing the audit committee.

Not slowing down, Scharlau also was the chairman of the National Development Council, chairman of the first large fund raising campaign under then-chancellor Dan Ferritor and was vice chairman of the university’s Campaign for the 21st Century. He was also a director of Arvest Bank-Fayetteville and the Razorback Foundation. Scharlau has served as a director of the C.H. Heist Corp. of Clearwater, Fla., and of First Arkansas Bankstock Corp. of Little Rock, Ark.

During the Campaign for the 21st Century, his family created the Scharlau Endowed Chancellor’s Scholarship and the Scharlau Endowed Chair in Chemistry and gifts to the general and law libraries.

In 2010, his wife Clydene was diagnosed with multiple myeloma, a cancer of the blood’s plasma. She sought care at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences Myeloma Institute for Research and Therapy, but, sadly, passed away in 2012. Prompted by the quality care Clydene received, the Scharlaus endowed the Charles & Clydene Scharlau Chair for Hematological Malignancies Research at UAMS with a gift of $1 million in 2011. The chair supports continued development of new treatments and therapies for blood cancers, such as multiple myeloma.

In 2015, Scharlau created a second endowed chair at the medical school: the Scharlau Family Endowed Chair in Cancer Research in honor of Kent C. Westbrook, M.D., and Bart Barlogie, M.D., Ph.D. Also in 2015, Scharlau established an endowed chair in presidential leadership to support the University of Arkansas system.

Scharlau was a member of the State Economic Expansion Commission and served terms as a member and as chairman of the state’s energy commission. He has been chairman of the Mineral Law Section of the Arkansas Bar Association and a speaker at their institutes. He also served on the board of directors of the American Gas Association, the Southern Gas Association and the National Association of Manufacturers.

Scharlau’s five grown children and five grandchildren are scattered around several states. Caryn works in sales in Oklahoma, while Robin lives in Florida. Greg is a law partner with Conner & Winters, and Charles is a software engineer with his own business in Raleigh-Durham, N.C. Marti is a research assistant in the chemistry department at the U of A.

Rodney Slater helps clients integrate their interests in the overall vision for the transportation system of the 21st century – a vision he set as United States Secretary of Transportation to promote a safer, more efficient, automated, environmentally sound and sustainable worldwide transportation infrastructure.

As a partner at Squire Patton Boggs, a full-service global law firm with 44 offices in 19 countries on five continents, Slater’s practice focuses on many of the policy and transportation objectives that were set under his leadership, including automobile use and development, aviation competition and congestion mitigation, maritime initiatives, high-speed rail corridor development, and overall transportation safety and funding.

His state and local government clients rely on his expertise to address the challenge of closing the gap between transportation demand and capacity by employing public-private strategies and innovative financing solutions.

Slater’s bipartisan and inclusive approach to problem solving has earned him respect and admiration on both sides of the aisle, enabling him to have one of the best relationships with the White House, Congress and business, labor and political leaders worldwide.

He brings a strategic, results-oriented and collaborative approach to the practice of law to his public policy practice and continues to embrace the framework he established as secretary for making transportation decisions that called for more open, collaborative and flexible decision making across the transportation enterprise in the U.S. and abroad.

Slater chairs the Squire Patton Boggs Foundation Board of Directors. The foundation promotes the role of public service and pro bono work in the practice of law and the development of public policy and funds one of the University of Arkansas School of Law’s summer public service fellows, along with public policy fellows located around the world.

He is a 1980 graduate of the University of Arkansas School of Law. While in law school, he was a charter member and president of the Black Law Students Association and president of the Student Bar Association.

In addition to his passions for the law, public policy and public service, Slater is a founding partner of Washington D.C. Nationals 2019 World Series Championship Baseball team and chair emeritus of the Washington D.C. Nationals Youth Baseball Academy. He also donates his time and expertise to his alma mater. He is a member of the School of Law Campaign Arkansas Committee and returns to campus regularly as a guest lecturer and student mentor.

Unless otherwise noted, students listed in the Commencement program are candidates for graduation. Appropriate degrees and honors will be awarded following Commencement to the candidates who successfully complete all requirements. This is not an official list of graduates.
Sara Spayd enrolled at the University of Arkansas for graduate school in 1975 after completing her bachelor’s degree in horticultural science at North Carolina State University. She graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1977 with a master’s degree and in 1980 earned a doctorate, both in food science under the mentorship of Dr. Justin Morris.

Spayd was the first student to receive a doctorate from the newly named Department of Food Science and its new Ph.D. program.

Shortly after completing her Ph.D., Spayd joined Washington State University as its third female faculty member in the College of Agriculture. She worked as a research and extension food scientist in the area of enology in the Department of Food Science and Human Nutrition, and was stationed at the Irrigated Agriculture Research and Extension Center in Prosser, Washington. She retired from WSU in 2006 and returned to NCSU as professor and extension viticulture specialist in the Department of Horticultural Science until her retirement in 2016. Currently, she is Professor Emerita at NCSU.

Spayd has been a member of the American Society for Enology and Viticulture since 1980 and served as the 2011-12 president. In 2019, she was recognized with the society’s highest honor, the Merit Award. She and her collaborators received three Best Viticulture Papers Awards (1994, 2002 and 2009).

Other membership and committee services include the American Society for Horticultural Science (ASHS), Institute of Food Technologists, Central Washington Wine Technical Group and Washington State Grape Society. Her research and extension work has generated more than 50 international and national speaking engagements that resulted in international vineyard consultations.
Brandon L. Mathews, founder and owner of BLM Strategies, LLC and Co-Director, College and University Food Bank Alliance, is the Bumpers College Alumni Society’s Outstanding Young Alumnus for 2020.

Brandon Mathews is a 2013 graduate of the U of A and Bumpers College’s School of Human and Environmental Sciences with a bachelor’s degree in human development and family sciences, and holds a Master of Public Service degree from the U of A Clinton School of Public Service.

The HPER Building on campus is where he met his wife, Spoofers Stone is where he proposed, and the steps of Old Main is where they tied the knot. His two-year-old daughter even knows how to “Call the Hogs!” But it wasn’t the time he spent waiting in line for Razorback athletic events that forever changed his future, it was the time he spent at the food pantry.

His work in food insecurity started as a client of the Jane B. Gearhart Full Circle Food Pantry. From there, Mathews served as the pantry intern as a senior. As a graduate student at the Clinton School of Public Service, he partnered with the Arkansas Foodbank to create its campus pantry manual and launch a regional effort to expand the foodbank’s footprint to college campuses, most notably the UA Little Rock Trojan Food Pantry and UA Pine Bluff Lion Food Pantry.

Upon graduating, the Arkansas Foodbank hired Mathews as community development coordinator where he rose to the position of major gifts officer. Mathews also served as the associate director of campus resources for CUFBA, the College and University Food Bank Alliance, which serves campus food pantries by providing toolkits and guidance for addressing food insecurity. He then served as a development associate for UAMS Institutional Advancement and Alumni Association where he focused on annual giving, scholarships, corporate partnerships and alumni engagement for the colleges of pharmacy and public health.

Mathews has received the Shannon Butler Bridge Builder Award from the Clinton School of Public Service; was selected for the 11th class of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce Leadership Arkansas program; and most recently was honored as the Outstanding Young Alumnus for Bumpers College’s School of Human Environmental Sciences.

Mathews is now co-director of CUFBA, which now serves over 800 college food pantries, and is the founder and owner of BLM Strategies, a niche consulting firm dedicated to offering solutions to small businesses and nonprofits through group facilitation, marketing campaigns and fundraising efforts.
